VOLUME XXXIV. NUMBER 33.

IRONTON, MO.

THURSDAY, FEB. 7, 1901.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Next Thursday is Valentine Day. Rumor has it that a wedding is not far off.

The Willing Workers will meet with Mrs. Fred. Kindell this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Eli Dewey, Sunday, February 3d, 1901, at 7 P. M., a son. All are doing well.

Lopez's are invading this week. It's a big job, but the proprietor and the clerks like it, O ever so much!

Groundhog Day passed without serious comment, and His Animalship made no shadow "twixt sun and sun."

Dr. L. Werblun, optician of St. Louis, will be in Ironton at the Keesling hotel Monday, February 11, one day only.

Largest and finest assortment of Valentines ever seen in the Valley, at H. Adolph's Jewelry Store. Prices and quantities to suit everybody.

An addition of twenty volumes was made to the library of the Ironton Public School last Monday. Also, one Webster's Unabridged Dictionary.

Go and see that beautiful Lamp in the window at Adolph's Jewelry Store. The card attached will explain everything, and is "mighty interesting reading" for everybody.

At a business meeting of the South-east Missouri Pythian Association, held at Poplar Bluff yesterday, Ironton was selected as the place for the annual reunion in June. About thirty-five delegates were present.

Mr. A. M. Madigan last week resigned his clerkship with Greater Bonanza, and is now installed at Warren's Store with Gross & Pruitt. "Mike" is all right, and the REGISTER wishes him a happy future.

The blizzard that came down on the Valley Sunday evening was of the mild sort. While it braced the atmosphere and made the roadway solid, the creeks were not frozen over, and once more the ice man's hopes of a harvest have gone glimmering.

JANUARY WEATHER—Mean maximum temperature, 48 degrees; mean minimum, 24.50; mean temperature, 36.25; maximum 70; minimum, 6. Greatest daily range, 48; precipitation, 1.66; snowfall for month, .25. W. H. DELANO, Observer.

Married—At the home of the bride, on Wednesday, February 6, 1901, by Rev. T. F. Marshall, Mr. Chas. W. Jones, of Madison county, and Miss Nora Russell, of Iron. The REGISTER wishes its best wishes to the happy couple, and prays for their long life and happiness.

Saturday, weather-veers eastwardly and snow in heavy flakes; Sunday morning warm sunshine and southern winds; Sunday evening, snow gone, winds from the north, and overcast comfortable. For variety of wind and weather in quick succession, where's the land can lay it over this?

List of letters remaining in the Post-Office at Ironton, Mo., for the week ending Feb. 2, 1901. If not called for within two weeks, they will be sent to the Dead Letter Office: Mr. John Cason Thos J Conway

Persons claiming the above will please say "advertised" and give date of this list. J. N. BISHOP, P. M.

The telephone lines to Bismarck and from Iron Mountain to Bellevue have been completed. Offices have been established in Arcadia, Ironton and Pilot Knob. The fixtures for it have been received and will be placed in two or three days. The establishment of these lines will work a revolution in communication in this section the value of which is beyond computation.

The grip is something like a woman's Sunday dress—the article itself isn't so warm, but the attendants that follow in its train loose the purse and rack the brain. A 3-grain capsule timeous taken knocks out the parent grip, when lot a dozen painful progeny take you on the hip—as well as at other salient points. In fact, the whole human structure seems but a hattrack to hang aches and pains upon. And it's kept unconsciously well filled by this Russian nomad.

Died—At his residence in Pilot Knob, Mo., on Sunday, February 3d, 1901, at 9:30 o'clock P. M., Charles Immer, aged 69 years, 4 months and 18 days. The funeral, which took place Tuesday, was largely attended, and the remains were laid to rest in the Catholic Cemetery, near Pilot Knob. Mr. Immer was long a resident of the town where he ended his days, and his death removes another of the old time citizens of the county. His family and relatives have the condolence of the community.

A week or ten days ago John Brooks' son, while hunting, was warned out of a field in temporary possession of Allan Hampton. The boy was saucy, and some words passed. Wednesday of last week, Hampton and his son, while pursuing the even tenor of their way along the public road, met Brooks and his son. A quarrel resulted after the exchange of compliments, and an attempted explanation on the part of Hampton, Brooks assaulted him, doing some physical damage. At Hampton's instance a warrant for the arrest of Brooks was issued. An arrest followed, and then a trial before Judge Fairchild. The defendant demanded a jury, and six good and lawful citizens were put in the box accordingly. After hearing the testimony, a fine of "one dollar and costs" was assessed against defendant, upon the non-payment of which Mr. Brooks was committed to the Bastille where he still languishes in discontent and sorrow and pain that "against the law the greatest prowess is vain."

Last week two citizens from the West End came to Ironton, having in charge one William Sumpter, and made complaint to the authorities that he was insane. A warrant was issued and Sumpter was placed in jail. Tuesday his trial was had before the county court, and the jury, after a very short consultation, returned a verdict to the effect that he was not a fit subject for the lunatic asylum. While the young man is not full witted, he is not vicious. Melancholia seems to be his chief trouble, and it is thought with proper care he will recover from that.

Back up your wagons, farmer friends, and load in your two dollar salt and three dollar nails and then roar about the blamed trusts. But the moment you get $10 ahead send in an order to Snakem & Doem or some other mail order house and help support one of the biggest trusts in the country. They pay none of your school or road taxes, do not build up your town and enhance the value of your property and thus can sell a little cheaper. But as soon as they can kill out the small towns, they have you right where the salt trust has you now, and then you will have to dance to salt music prices. Every dollar sent to a mail order house is a dollar put into a trust to aid in freezing out the small concerns and putting an end to competition. You have a right to do as you please with your money, but if you assist in building up trusts, the sake of consistency, don't kick at trust prices.—Ez.

The Centerville Reformer believes that the postal department has reached ne plus ultra of efficiency. It has so believed for a long time; but the editor of that paper a few days ago was more than ever impressed with that belief "when the post master of Centerville approached him with an official inquiry made from the postal department of Cleveland, Ohio, tracing up a private letter written and mailed by a private citizen of Cleveland and addressed to the editor, requesting him to make an abstract to a piece of land, render a legal opinion on the title, go out fifteen miles and ride over the land, make an estimate of the timber, a plat showing the general lay and location, and make a full report, but failing to even enclose a stamp for a reply. The postal department instructed our post master to visit the editor and learn if the letter had been received, and if so, why it had not been answered. Very reluctantly our editor informed the government post office official that the letter had been received, but his clerk who attends to all this free business, from exposure and overexertion running over those Ozark hills during the winter, but so soon as he got able the favor would be attended to."

It having been currently reported that Rev. Ben Deering was assisting Mrs. Nation in her law-breaking assaults on saloons, and endorsing her insane methods, it is but just to give place to the following card, dated Topeka, January 30: "The report of my connection with the public meeting addressed by Mrs. Nation, and the information about her which I gave the Globe-Democrat, leaves the impression that I endorse her methods and believe in her imaginary mission. I made the statement in connection with that report that I believed Mrs. Nation to be laboring under an hallucination in that she has taken up the belief that God has called her to the work she is doing. I regard that belief as a mere hallucination, dangerous to her and dangerous to the cause which she has espoused. I said that her friends ought to control her, if possible, and that if they do not she is likely to receive great bodily harm, and may be killed. I would not be understood by my friends in Missouri as approving or aiding in the work of Mrs. Nation. While great good may come of it, it is the work of a good woman laboring under a hallucination, and not under divine guidance. The hereditary tendency of her ancestry on her mother's side is sufficient to warrant such a conclusion, aside from other very apparent indications."

The Willing Workers of the Presbyterian Church gave a Button Party at Mrs. A. F. Bond's last Tuesday evening. About thirty couples attended, and a very pleasant evening resulted. The rooms were elegantly decorated, well warmed and lighted, and what with music, chorales, shadow pictures and button-sewing, the midnight hour came before anyone was aware of the approach of another day in the New Century. About ten o'clock an elegant lunch was served by the fair hostess and her no less fair assistants, to which everybody did ample justice. The guests were seated at table by relays and according to the number of the button given the guest, which number was regulated by the numerical order in which he had pulled the door-order in his arrival. Of course no confusion could result from so well-ordered a precedence, were not all things human imperfect and subject to unlooked-for mutations. In this instance only one slight jar impeded the smooth working of the machinery. The buttons were all right, and the numbers all right, too, but an inverted 6 makes a good 9, and vice versa. Hence a lively altercation between the Rev. Marshall and Mr. Collins; but as the former gentleman held the "age" by being first seated, the latter succumbed to circumstance and did not take final appeal to determine whether certain de facto should give way to probable de jure. The button-sewing contest was lively. Miss Mary Myers secured the first prize, having a string of thirty, and Roy Snyder captured the "booby" with one of four. At 11:45 the guests departed, all delighted with the manner of their entertainment, and in their praise of the ladies who conducted it, and breathing good wishes for the happiness of the household wherein it was given. The proceeds were about fifteen dollars.

The REGISTER notes with pleasure that R. E. Wilkinson, now and for several years principal of the Ironton public schools, last week was awarded a "life" first grade certificate by the powers that be. It is but his meed, for he is faithful, thorough and proficient. Mr. W. was born on a farm in Franklin county, Mo., in the year 1869. He was reared there—brought up in close contact with nature. Nature is the soil in which men develop. The period of his higher education began in 1887 at which time he completed the Public School Course of his native county. It extended over a period of ten years to his completion of the scientific, literary and law courses of Missouri State University. This ten years of schooling is the fruit of his own labor. During this period he completed "C" and "B" at the State Normal at Warrensburg and attained the degree of L. L. B. from the University of Missouri. Through it all he taught at intervals to supply the funds necessary to further the end at which he aimed. Throughout his school work he held the belief of Carlyle, that work is the only good. He is to-day a tireless worker. His career as a teacher proper began in 1890, when he was elected to a position in the De Soto High School. He filled it to the satisfaction of everyone. He left De Soto to take the Suptcy. of Schools at Bethany, Missouri, at which place he remained for the terms of 1891-2. He was then called to the chair of English in Bryant & Stratton of St. Louis, Missouri, but resigned to accept the Suptcy. of schools for Searsville, Missouri, at which place he was the successor of the Hon. Wm. T. Carrington, now Supt. of Public Instruction for Missouri. In 1897 he was elected Supt. of Schools for Ironton, Missouri. He is there to-day. The high grade of the work, the attendance, the punctuality, show his worth. He is a success.

The Masonic Entertainment.
The entertainment and supper, given at Bellevue last Thursday evening, was an event well enjoyed and much appreciated by all present.
The entertainment was under leadership of Mr. Jas. Malone, which insured its success; for him the entertainment speaks, and its success proved that he well understood the task he began. The programme was well arranged and was interesting from first to last. It consisted of pieces of humor, music, and two plays which deserve special mention.
Misses Logan and Warren, and the Messrs. Cox and McKinney furnished music with different instruments; while at intervals Mr. Wm. Trauernicht gave selections with his phone. The rounds of applause told that the audience enjoyed them.
Mr. E. Conner rendered a song entitled Cleopatra Joe. After the song he gave a cake-walk. The recitations given by Misses Hale and Fitzpatrick, entitled, "The Old Maid's Prayer," and "An Experience" were well spoken. The two young ladies controlled their voices well and were greeted with a hearty applause by the audience.
The drama Betsy Baker represented "a little family affair." Betsy was a pretty little girl who fell in love with

Mr. Mouser. Mr. Mouser almost reciprocated, and it was not long before Mrs. Mouser "got a tip." Mouser protested his innocence but his wife had obtained a hat he lost, which was a point he could not dodge. They finally settled affairs by ascertaining that it was a scheme to prove that Mouser "could not love but one."

The Holy Terror was a drama in negro dialect. It portrayed the abuse and corrections of "a spoilt child." Moses, the Holy Terror, gets a masher. Mr. Higbollar into trouble by telling him that his mother's name is Mrs. Fireworks. Mr. H. no sooner greets Mrs. Fireworks with that term than she proceeds to use the broom stick on him. His reception gets very warm before he discovers his mistake. After difficulties were somewhat adjusted, Mr. Higbollar soon makes himself acquainted with the other members of the family and they have an interesting little hop and sing. "I'm Certainly Living a Rag-Time Life."

The supper was served after the programme had been rendered. And it was enjoyed as much as was the entertainment.
All report a pleasant time and hope they may be favored by another in the near future.

ONE WHO WAS THERE.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. As I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and, after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Price 50c. For sale by all Druggists.

Bellevue.

Ed. Register—On Saturday last snow fell thick and fast nearly all day here, and it looked as though winter had come at last. But by noon Sunday the warm rays of old Sol had penetrated the thick gloomy clouds, melting away the snow; and in fact, somewhat relieving the heart of ungrateful man, while all nature appeared to rejoice as the genial rays cast their welcome gleam over a sinful world.

Prof. Jesse Shy and wife, of Lesterville, visited friends and relatives in the Valley last week.

Miss Minnie January, of Centerville, spent last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. Judge Moyer, Bellevue.

Oscar McGee visited his parents here Saturday and Sunday, 26th and 27th ult., and while here gave the writer a very pleasant call.

Nearly all who have had the gripe are able to be up and around again. Mrs. J. M. Hawkins visited Mrs. J. T. Patterson Friday last.

The Masonic fraternity gave a literary entertainment and supper in the town hall Thursday night last.

Hon. John Horn came down from Jefferson City Friday, 25th ult., and spent Saturday and Sunday with his family here.

The Bell Telephone Company has completed its labors in extending a line to our town. I am informed that the Company's office here will be kept in the store of Messrs. Read and Webb. Bellevue is no longer an isolated town, but is now in actual touch with the great throbbing heart of the business world. This line extends from this point to Iron Mountain, from which point connections will be made with Southern Illinois.

For thirty cents one can have a five minutes' interview with any one along the line mentioned above.

Miss Lizzie Russell is attending school at Caledonia.

Miss Stella Carr has been sick for a week, but is now able to attend school again.

Misses Amy and Hazel Settle have been quite sick with the gripe for a few days past. They are bright children, and their absence from school is very much regretted by both pupils and teacher.

Bessie Palmer has been somewhat indisposed, but is somewhat better at this writing.

Phillip Hawkins is working in St. Louis.

Miss Sallie Hawkins, who has been teaching school near Sabula, has returned home.

Miss Jennie Logan has been clerking for Mr. Blispinghoff the past two weeks; she makes a good clerk. Mr. Blispinghoff is rapidly disposing of his stock of goods, and will retire from business early in the Spring, owing to ill health.

Charley Calvert is assisting D. H. Hartman in the store and office. February 4, 1901. X.

Ed. Register—The grip has visited almost every family in this vicinity. The doctors have been kept busy for the past ten days.
